

Race and Citizenship in the Americas: Then and Now

A Conference at Princeton University
February 22-23, 2013

The global collaborative network Race and Citizenship in the Americas is sponsored by Princeton's Council for International Teaching and Research and is part of a larger institutional partnership between Princeton University and the Universidade de São Paulo (USP). Hosted by Princeton's Program in Latin American Studies, the network brings together faculty and students to discuss pressing issues related to race, ethnicity and social mobility in the Americas. Further information and complete conference program at raceandcitizenship.com

Friday, February 22

9:00am-11:45am

Aaron Burr Hall 219 (in English)

Opening Remarks: Pedro Meira Monteiro (Princeton)

Reflections on mestiçagem/mestizaje and race in critical theory

Arcadio Díaz-Quiñones (Princeton)
Serge Gruzinski (EHESS, Princeton)
Deborah Thomas (University of Pennsylvania)

Discussants: Lilia Schwarcz (USP, Princeton) and Antonio Sérgio Guimarães (USP)

Moderator: João Biehl (Princeton)

1:30pm-3:45pm

Aaron Burr Hall 216 (in Portuguese and English)

Abolição, e depois?

Desigualdade, vida social e ação política

The abolition of slavery and then? Inequality, social life, and political action

Angela Alonso (USP),
Wlamyra Ribeiro de Albuquerque (UFBA),
Leonardo Affonso de Miranda Pereira (PUC-RJ)

Discussant: Nísia Trindade Lima (FIOCRUZ)

4:15pm-6:00pm

Aaron Burr Hall 216 (in Portuguese and English)

O cenário atual: raça, classe e desigualdade Current times: race, class and inequality

Marcia Lima (USP)
Marcelo Paixão (UFRJ, Princeton)

Discussant: James Green (Brown, Princeton)

Saturday, February 23

9:00am-10:45am

Aaron Burr Hall 216 (in English and Portuguese)

Entre preto e branco: literatura e fotografia

Between black and white: literature and photography

Hélio de Seixas Guimarães (USP)
Maria Helena Machado (USP)

Discussant: André Botelho (UFRJ, Princeton)

11:00am-12:45pm

Aaron Burr Hall 216 (in Portuguese and English)

Entre vozes e sentimentos:

Cuba oitocentista e África do Sul hoje

Between voices and sentiments: 19th-century Cuba and South Africa today

Rachel Price (Princeton)
Laura Moutinho (USP)

Discussant: Nick Nesbitt (Princeton)

2:00pm-5:30pm

Aaron Burr Hall 216 (in English and Portuguese)

Race and citizenship: The possibilities and challenges now

Antonio Sérgio Guimarães (USP)
Edward Telles (Princeton)
Lilia Schwarcz (USP, Princeton)
Nadya Guimarães (USP)
Pedro Meira Monteiro (Princeton)

Moderator: Bruno Carvalho (Princeton)

Organization: Pedro Meira Monteiro, João Biehl, Lilia Schwarcz, Antonio Sérgio Guimarães

Co-sponsored by the Program in Latin American Studies, the Department of Spanish and Portuguese and the Department of Anthropology

PRINCETON
UNIVERSITY